FOREWORD

WEST VIRGINIA, THE STATE, IS ADVANCING RAPIDLY AND SO SHOULD ITS UNIVERSITY ADVANCE. THE STAFF OF THE NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SEVEN YEARBOOK IS STIMULATED BY THAT ADVANCE AND HAVE CONSEQUENTLY DETERMINED TO MAKE THIS OFFICIAL HISTORY ONE WITH MODERNISTIC IDEAS. USING THAT AS A FOUNDATION WE HAVE BUILT THIS ANNUAL THAT IT MAY BE USED AS A SUBSIDIARY STEPPING STONE TO A GREATER WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY.

Editor-in-Chief.

COLONEL EARL H. SMITH

EARL H. SMITH

In many West Virginia communities may be found members of the old guard of University students who are constantly boosting for their Alma Mater. One of these is Colonel Earl H. Smith, Fairmont. It is a familiar saying that during the seasons that West Virginia University's football team was unknown, unsuccessful in winning its games, and unsung, just as, later, when our elevens are noted all over the country, he was a member of that little band who never missed a game, played either on the home field or abroad. This does not mean that his loyalty to the Varsity was confined to its football activities, for he never lost an opportunity to be of service to the school in every manner possible.

Colonel Smith loved to do these things because, in 1897 he entered the University. Except, during a period in 1898, when the Spanish American War called a number of men in school he was a member of the student body until 1900. During his stay in school he was a willing worker in all student activities. He assisted in the management of teams in vogue at that time; in college dramatics, and in the affairs of the Cadet Corps. He was not only known by all of his fellow students but by the people of the town.

Leaving college, Colonel Smith joined his father who was engaged in the newspaper enterprise in Fairmont. He founded the Fairmont Times, one of the best known daily papers in the state of West Virginia; edited its first issue and every other one of that paper until he left Fairmont in 1917 to enter the World War.

After he was discharged from active military duty late in 1919, Colonel Smith was engaged to create a department of Public Relations for the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, that huge and popular corporation which supplies electric power, lights, and transportation to a wide area in West Virginia, Eastern Ohio and Western Maryland. His assignment was to make friends of the company, its employees and the public. In this enterprise he was highly successful. His company is now noted for the cordiality that now exists between it and the people it serves. In public service corporation circles of the nation, this company stands out as one which has solved the problem of dealing in a friendly manner with its patrons. In Fairmont, the Colonel's fellow workers will tell you that he can call every one of the fifteen hundred employees of his company by their first names.

It was in the Cadet Corps that Colonel Smith received his first military training and he has been active in such circles since. He was Cadet Adjutant when he left school and he immediately enlisted in the West Virginia National Guard as a private. Step by step he was promoted to the rank of major which he held when transferred to Federal service for duty in the World War. Despite the fact that for him it was a heavy financial sacrifice to leave Fairmont at the time when the nation and the world were demanding, for the war emergency, so many products found in that city, he deserted many of his business associates and entered the army shortly after this country joined in the struggle. He went to France with a southern division—the thirty-ninth—and was transferred to the Fourth Corps to serve on the staff of the now famous American, General Charles P. Summerall, both in France and in the Army of Occupation in Germany. He was among the last of the West Virginia soldiers to return home from foreign service.

After his discharge from active duty, Colonel Smith affiliated with the Officers Reserve Corps in which he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel. Recently he was commissioned Colonel in the West Virginia National Guard and commanded by Governor Howard Gore to form the First West Virginia Infantry, a feat when accomplished will mean the re-establishing of a famous organization which existed until the World War.

Upon his return from abroad, Colonel Smith was chosen commander of the American Legion Post just formed in Fairmont and the same year was elected Commander in the department of West Virginia, being the first state commander.

His friends declare that Colonel Smith knows more West Virginians than any other citizen of the state and that among this host of friends he is chiefly noted for his willingness to boost at all times West Virginia University and its activities.

Organized to establish a Literary Magazine on the Campus, the Scribblers this year succeeded in accomplishing their object. The members projected, edited, and generally supervised the publishing of two issues of the SCRIBBLER, which next year is intended to be printed between six and eight times. The avowed purpose of this Magazine is to inculcate literary art among the students and to afford an outlet for their abilities.

THANKS FOR THE RIDE

CADET HOP—October 31

The social season of West Virginia University opened very auspiciously with a refreshingly enjoyable Cadet Hop. Howard's West Virginians played the program of twelve dances. This function through its charm established a pleasant precedent for the season.

PAN-HELLENIC—November 13

Delightful music, colorful decorations and gorgeous gowns made of the first Pan-Hellenic of the season a brilliant pageant and entertainment. Under the glow of the soft lights the magic of youth and the dance asserted itself and claimed for its own a plorious time. Charlie Edison's Paramount Orchestra played the program of twelve dances.

CO-ED PROM—November 20

The Co-eds of the campus sought revenge on their more fortunate masculine friends and achieved it by holding a feminine party. Howard's West Virginians filled the armory with syncopated harmonies to which a myriad of girls whirled and swayed. The dainty vari-colored dresses contrasted occasionally against a feminized tuxedo and the bright graceful decorations created a lovely scene. The function has been graven in the annals of society as a success.

UNIVERSITY DANCE—November 21

An intuitive committee chose clever football programs for the initial University dance on which were inscribed, "Beat W. and J." Perhaps the dance did not defeat our mighty rival but most certainly it forced old Mr. Boredom to the ten-yard line in a succession of twelve delightful dances. Howard's West Virginians supplied the music for the occasion and local decorators achieved a lovely background for it.

TORCH AND SERPENT DANCE—December 18

The Torch and Serpent held its annual formal dance amid the beauty of striking decorations and lighting effects. The programs were red and black replicas of the pin of the organization. Joe Nesbit's Orchertra of Sunbry, Pennsylvania, supplied spirited music for twelve dances making the enjoyment of the evening complete in every way.

UNIVERSITY DANCE—February 27

Howard's West Virginians produced strains of dance provoking music for a program of twelve dances at a very successful University dance. The programs decorated with basketball heros fit into the spirit of the season. The ensemble prepared the way for a delightful evening.

MILITARY BALL—February 8

The Military Ball, splendid in its formality, was easily the most brilliant social event of the season. Amid gorgeous bunting and innumerable flags beautifully attired girls walked and danced with formally clad men. The spirit of laughter was rife and the glow of happiness rivaled the glint of the soft lights. The excellency of the music by Oliver Naylor's Victor Recording Orchestra infused rythmical charm into the ball. The programs of gold and blue decorated with military figures and patriotic symbols further enhanced the appointments. During the evening stunning favors of Colonial Lady powder boxes were presented to the ladies. An elaborate buffet supper was served throughout the dance. Dignity was imparted to the occasion by the distinguished graciousness of the patrons, patronesses and chaperons: Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Trotter, Major and Mrs. Leland S. Devore, Capt. and Mrs. H. C. Gilchrist, Capt. and Mrs. R. R. Tourtillott, Capt. and Mrs. Taylor W. Foreman, Lieut. and Mrs. F. B. Hastie, Lieut. Thomas F. Kern, Dean and Mrs. H. E. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hare, Mr. A. L. Darby, and the chaperons Dean Martha T. Fulton, Miss Isabel L. Hayes, Mrs. Gertrude Davis, Mrs. H. S. Clink, Mrs. W. H. Gallup, Miss Clara Lytle, Mrs. Anna B. Holden, Mrs. H. V. Hessey, Miss Ella Craig, Mrs. J. H. Abbott, and Mrs. C. E. White.

CADET HOP—March 13

The second Cadet Hop of the season followed the precedent of the first in point of success. Howard's West Virginians again played the program. The decorations, the programs, and the music all conspired to promote a good time.

SENIOR DANCE—March 20

March 20 heralds one of the most pleasant events of the year. Attractive individual decorations and unique programs added a note of interest to the Senior Dance. Ambassadors Orchestra of Clarksburg played a good program exceptionally well.

PAN-HELLENIC—March 26

Harmon's Orchestra syncopated so successfully that the second Pan-Hellenic of the season was an assured success from the first dance until time decreed that gayeties cease. The decorations and lights and rainbow dresses made it a picture of consumate art as well as unalloyed pleasure.

ENGINEERS BALL—March 27

Howard's West Virginians officiated in the musical realm at the Engineers Ball. Decorations by a local were both pleasing and effective. It needs must be spoken of in highly commendatory tones.

JUNIOR PROM—April 16

One of the triumphs of the social calendar proved to be the Junior Prom. The Armory was fascinating in the shifting lights and draperies. The throngs of people made a fitting compliment for the beauty of the picture. Hal Jason's Orchestra of Philadelphia played the program.

UNIVERSITY DANCE—May 1

Howard's West Virginians demonstrated their skill in the musical art in a well played program. The spirit of revelry was predominant thus insuring a delightful time for all.

CADET HOP—May 15

Decorations and music conspiracy with spring magic created an entertaining social event. Al Mabie's Old Gold and Blue Orchestra supplied the music for the evening. The programs were in keeping with the function.

PAN-HELLENIC—May 28

The formal beauty of the last Pan-Hellenic of the year held great appeal. Alluring music made the program an interesting one while the dance programs themselves were charmingly unique.

SPHINX—June 4

The final chapter of the social book of the year was written in a fitting and charming manner by the formal dance of Sphinx. The music was played by Carson Howard's West Virginians and was excellent. It was a pleasant end to a pleasant year.

Summary of Events

W. V. U. 18—ALLEGHENY 0

There were two good reasons why the Mountaineers could have been pardoned for making an unsuccessful debut against Allegheny. First, they opened the season on a foreign field, something new for West Virginia teams. Second, besides a new coach they flashed a revamped backfield containing two new faces and a line which likewise contained two new men. Fairmont, where West Virginia's teams usually open, cannot for this reason be considered a foreign field.

Because of these facts Mountaineer supporters were jubilant when news of the fine three-touchdown victory over Allegheny was received, and high hopes of a brilliant season were cherished, hopes which were justified when it was known the victory was scored without letting a single cat out of the bag. Pitt's scouts learned nothing.

No individual stars stood out as the men had received their orders to confine themselves to straight line bucks, tackle thrusts, and end runs. Breaks of the game figured in the scoring, one touchdown coming when Allegheny tried a forward pass within the shadow of their own goal posts, and Ed Morrison intercepted the ball. Another tally resulted in the fourth quarter, after Brace had fumbled for the opponents, and "Horse" Lough had fallen on the ball on the 14-yard line. But the Mountaineers lost two practically sure scores on fumbles deep in Allegheny territory. So it was even.

The other score came in the second quarter and was largely the outcome of rushing. Ed Morrison, playing in his home town before hundreds of his friends, gave them reason to be proud of him by a sterling performance. The entire line showed throughout the game that power which was to earn it the title of premier of the country.

W. V. U. 6—DAVIS-ELKINS 0

"Those red-jerseyed little devils from Randolph almost tripped up the University boys." This comment from a town spectator of the tartar game on the W. V. U. schedule, the opening home contest.

And in truth the Davis-Elkins outfit, though not little, did project a moderate-sized scare into the hearts of loyal State followers. They took the ball early in the first quarter on downs in the shadow of their own goal, kicked out, held for downs, and then flipped a short pass over the center of the line. Within scoring distance they faltered, and never exhibited signs of trouble after that, confining their efforts to some of the keenest defensive work seen in the Stadium all season.

Five times they stopped the Mountaineer assault within the 20-yard line. This achievement should be written in large type and remembered, for the like hasn't happened for a long time, and probably won't occur again soon.

The D. and E. line was composed of heavy, rugged boys, and the backfield of powerful burly fellows. The very able Cain, at right end, was the outstanding individual star. He smeared West Virginia's famous off-tackle thrust again and again, until they stopped sending plays around his end. He later received high mention in the East.

For "our" side, Pete Barrum scored the single touchdown which brought a hard-earned victory. The tally came after the Henderson men had held on their own two-yard line in the second quarter, punted to Farley on his 42, who passed to Oliker for a gain and then gave the ball to Barnum who took it over in a couple of rushes.

Eighteen first downs to five for the "Scarlet Hurricane" proved to the fans which was really the superior team. The West Virginians had "growing" pains, and they lacked the finished ease and precision. But they won, which was enough.

W. V. U. 7—PITTSBURGH 15

For the second time in as many years this sad story appears with a heavy black border. For the second time in as many years the Panther craft scuttled the good ship Mountaineer.

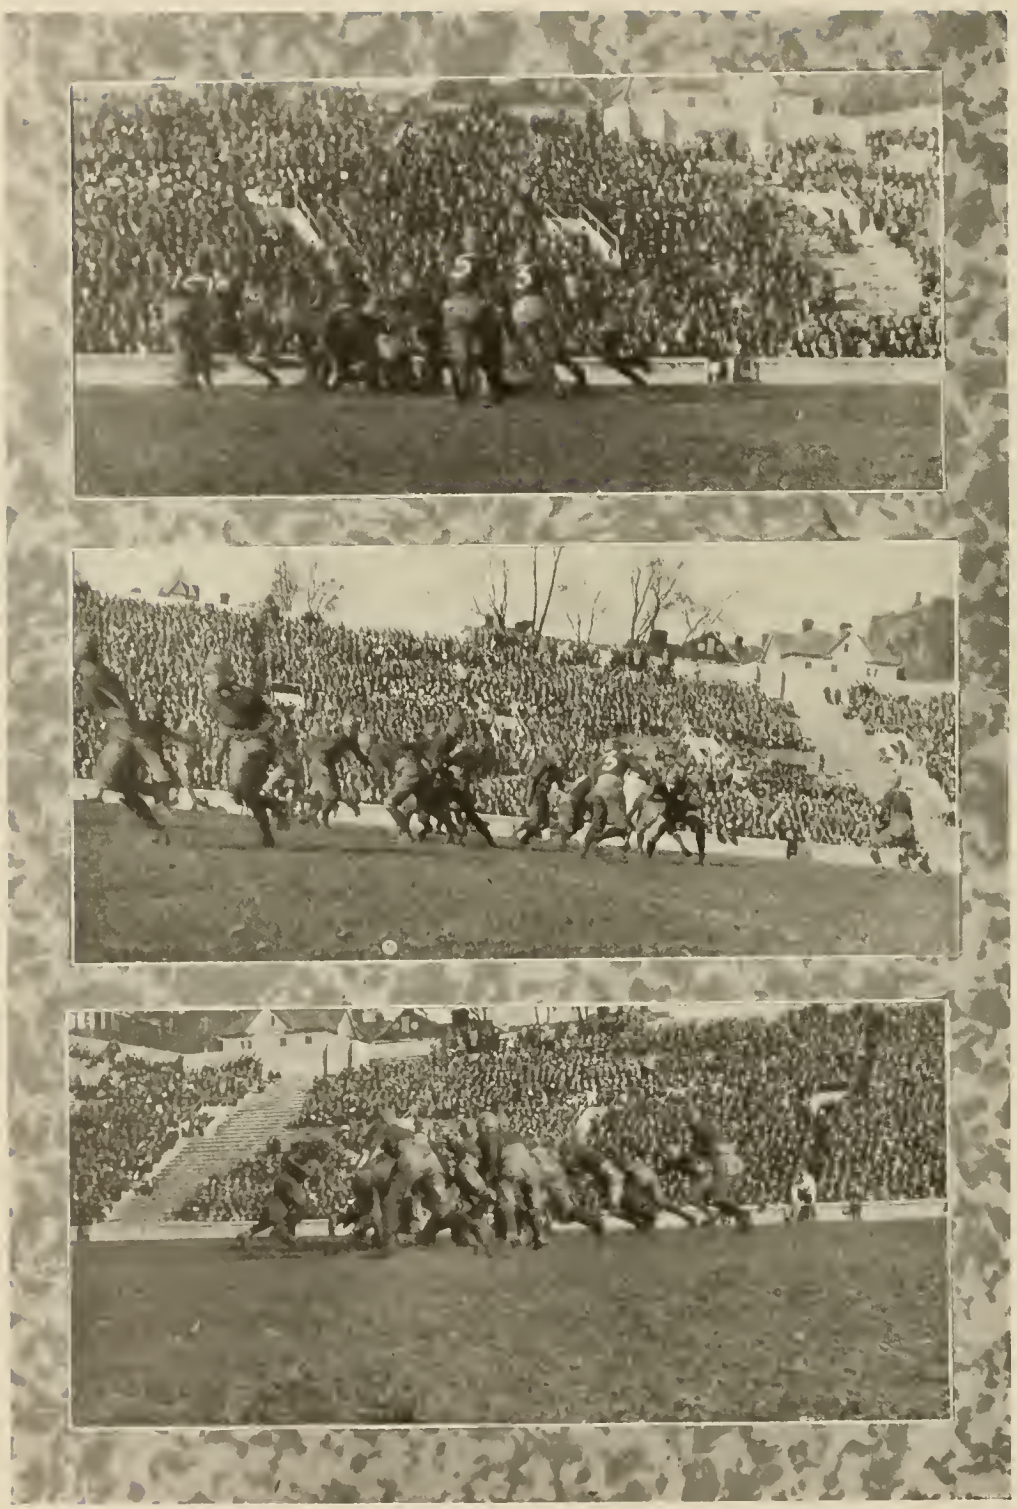
When we look back over the game in retrospect we can only with difficulty understand how it all came about. The 1925 model of the Mountaineer team was better than the current Pitt machine. Pitt's most ardent supporters admitted that, and statistics added their unbending weight in proof. But football games are played on fields, and fumbled punts are recovered by football players, not by sports writers.

Figures revealed that West Virginia made more first downs, gained more yards by rushing, completed more passes, intercepted more passes, drew more penalties but less penalty yardage, realized more ground in punts returned and kick-offs returned. The only important department of play in which Pitt excelled was in punting, 279 to 229.

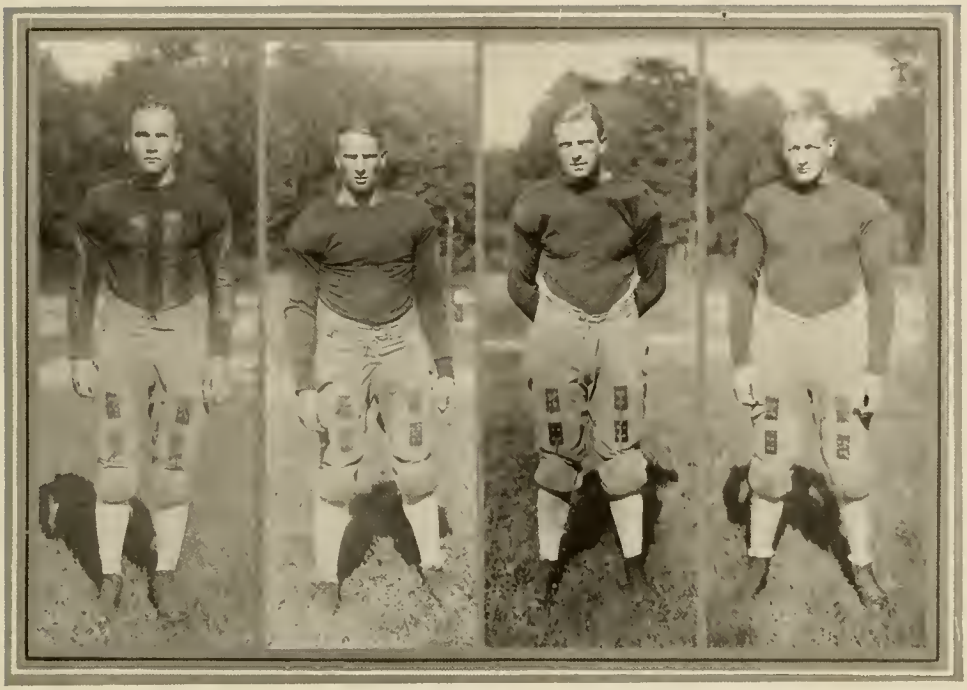
But why figure? Mark the game down to stage fright, luck, breaks, or anything you want, and proceed to the next battle.

A word in passing, however. Credit for individual performances should be given to Pete Barnum, chief ball-carrier for the Mountaineers, "Skeets" Farley for his superb field generalship, unexcelled forward pass throwing and intercepting, and faultless handling of punts. "Sleepy" Glenn, relieving Hardy as the second quarter opened, gave indications of the heights he was to reach before the season's close, and Ed Morrison was invulnerable in his gruelling job. Casey Ryan did not lose his head after the hard luck episode, and deserves credit for it. The whole Mountaineer line advanced another notch toward the eminence it was to gain.

For Pitt Gustafson was the individual star. Besides his recovery of a fumble, he obliged early in the game with a field goal which put his team in a winning position. Goldberg, substitute at center, was directly responsible for the winning tally, as he tackled Ryan with such force that the misplay resulted.



MOUNTAINEERS IN THE NEW MOUNTAINEER FIELD



Pfleger Jennewine Davis Dilcher

W. V. U. 54—GROVE CITY 3

A short, brilliant first-quarter dash, an unexpected opening sally from the underdog, and Grove City was quite and passive—she had spent herself. Rosenberg's dashing 65-yard return of the first kick-off, which culminated in a placement kick from the 23-yard line, was the beginning and the end of Grove City's effort at Mountaineer Field.

After that the crowd sat under a blue West Virginia sky and watched a Gold and Blue team leisurely and faultlessly trample over inadequate opposition, although for the Grovers let it be said they always fought.

Every man on the Mountaineer bench who wore a uniform got in the game that afternoon. And all performed well. The bulk of the credit again went to the line, Captain Mahan, Davis, Dilcher, McHenry, Oliker, Latham, and Murrin operating with devastating cohesion and irresistible force.

Farley scored two touchdowns, as did Morrison, and Glenn. Keefer and Black tallied once each.

W. and J. FALLS BEFORE THE MOUNTAINEERS

W. V. U. 16—WESLEYAN 0

What is it the jokester says always happens when Greek meets Greek? The same thing invariably occurs when the Mountaineers tangle with their closest West Virginia rivals, affectionately referred to as "that damned Wesleyan." You can bank on seeing a good scrap when Buckhannon's warriors come to town, and 1925 was no exception.

Leaden skies and a steady drizzle falling throughout the contest made the field a quagmire, and slowed up an otherwise interesting encounter. The game was replete with thrilling moments and star plays.

Wesleyan had two chances to score in the first quarter but they could not convert their opportunities into tallies. The first chance came when an exchange of punts placed the ball in mid-field. Farley went back to pass but was tackled and fumbled. The ball rolled toward the West Virginia line and Alvis for Wesleyan fell on it on the 27-yard line. But a try for a field goal failed, and the Wesleyanites in a few minutes received the ball on a penalty, only to fail again.

It was in this game that "Sleepy" Glenn first came to the front ranks from which he was not displaced the rest of the season. He made two touchdowns by dint of line plunges and off-tackle plays. Oliker kicked a neat field goal from the 25-yard line in the fourth quarter. As usual, the line played well. Charlie Dilcher recovered a Wesleyan fumble in the fourth period, opening the way for the field goal tally.

For Wesleyan, King, Weihl, and Kraus performed creditably and the entire team proved their defeat of Syracuse the preceding season and their remarkable 1925 record was gained on merit.

W. V. U. 21—WASHINGTON and LEE 0

On Saturday, October 31, the people down Charleston way learned what a polished Mountaineer team could do to a not-so-polished W. and L. squad, and in Kanawha county they talk about that game yet. How the husky Gold and Blue backs ploughed their way through the ooze and muck for a total of 255 yards gained by rushing, how Rodgers was able to throw in capable reserves at will, and how that wonderful line held on defense and charged on offense! Nothing like it had ever before been seen in southern West Virginia, and fans from that section expressed their envy of northern Mountaineer supporters who can watch their favorites in action more often.

A few figures. The Old Gold and Blue played the Generals before 10,000 persons, a sizable crowd indeed. Captain Mahan and his men counted 15 first downs to 1 for the Old Dominion crew, scored 260 yards to 34 by rushing, were set back 60 yards to 10 by penalties, and completed two out of three passes for a total gain of 15 yards against two out of four completed for a total gain of seven yards.

Fresh from their muddy contest with Wesleyan, Rodgers' crew were somewhat accustomed to the mud which greeted them at Charleston, and they made the best of it. Forward passing cut no figure at all, and perhaps it was just as well, for it was not needed. There were remarkably few fumbles, only two by West Virginia, although the ball was in their possession three-fourths of the time, and they made one 80-yard march for a touchdown. W. and L fumbled but once.

Fear that "Sleepy" Glenn had broken his hand in this game was dispelled when it was found to be not serious. Farley, Barnum, and Glenn were the scoring chiefs, and the line was as impenetrable as the mystery of the Sphinx.

W. V. U. 20—BOSTON COLLEGE 0

Napoleon was successful on his first eastern campaign. So was West Virginia. The Mountaineers set out for Boston College grimly determined to make a good impression on eastern critics. And when Mountaineers do a thing they do it right. Up at Boston mothers quiet their rebellious children with the awesome admonition, "The Mountaineers are coming."

Captain Mahan and his supporting cast spoiled the record of the "Beaneaters." Until that game, the Bostonians had not been defeated, and they presented a confident front to the sturdy men of Morgantown. But they soon saw they had met their match, for in the first quarter West Virginia registered 111 yards from scrimmage. This was prophetic for the total yardage was well over 400 for the Old Gold and Blue, while the Irish could not gather half this amount.

The score does not indicate the difference in ability between the two teams. Only Cronin's superb punting for Boston kept down the visitor's final score, for West Virginia made 24 first downs to Boston's seven. An example of the prowess of the victors, take their third touchdown performance, which they made by advancing 84 yards in eight running plays. And it was like that all through the game, West Virginia able to advance practically at will through the opposing line.

To Oliker for scoring the first touchdown and for excellent defensive work, to Barnum for superlative line-cracking, to Glenn and Hardy for brilliant end running, and to that ubiquitous line for reaching the heights of modern line play, go the individual and group honors. Sports writers agreed that in this game the Mountaineers reached their zenith of performance.

"Fuzzy" Knight, of Fairmont, led about 10 loyal rooters in cheers, but they say that before the game was over he had the whole crowd pulling for the picturesque West Virginia team.

W. V. U. 14—PENN STATE 0

Mother Nature, the goddess of chance, the student body, and the patron saint of football all opened their hearts and poured out the best of their offerings on the day set aside for dedicating Mountaineer Field, mammoth picturesque stadium. The fairest of fair weather, the best of student support, and the ultimate in football combined with a fair share of the breaks, made the day one to be kept fresh and sharp in memory.

The game itself was one that Mountaineers had decided in advance must be won, if for no other reason than to break the traditional jinx surrounding stadium dedications. At the start things looked black when Carl Davis received a poor kick-off from Penn State, and passed unexpectedly to a teammate, who was taken off guard and fumbled. The Lions recovered on the Mountaineer 38-yard line, but were held. They were dangerous at all times thereafter, but never succeeded in scoring.

A very neat and clever trick play scored a touchdown for the Old Gold and Blue in the fourth quarter. The play was a double pass, Barnum to Morrison, followed by a lateral pass to Glenn, who jogged across the goal line unmolested. The other touchdown was made in the second quarter after Latham had partially blocked a kick, and Barnum and Glenn, assisted by Farley's passing had worked the ball within scoring distance, Glenn taking it over.

One of the largest crowds in the history of the city attended the dedication, and a holiday spirit prevailed. The dedication proper was held between halves, and among the notables present were Governor Howard M. Gore, John J. Tigert, U. S. Commissioner of education, Brooks Fleming, president of the Stadium corporation. Short talks were made by these men and several others. Senator Lee S. North represented Pennsylvania. A parade was held in the afternoon in which marched alumni of almost every class of the University. Students and faculty received their annual football holiday following the victory on Monday.

W. V. U. 19—WASHINGTON and JEFFERSON 0

And then the last—and the best. If before the W. and J. game Mountaineer hearts had swelled in sturdy Mountaineer bosoms with pride for unbeatable Mountaineer football teams, if before the final encounter lusty Mountaineer throats had grown hoarse and strong Mountaineer lungs had weakened in shouting the glories of Mountaineer achievements to Mountaineer skies, what then of this final climactic, eptic event?

Before a crowd of 21,000 persons, the largest ever to see a football game in this state, the Old Gold and Blue ended what in many respects was the greatest football season she has ever known by downing the traditional rivals, Washington and Jefferson college by the decisive score of 19 to 0. In every department of play the Red and Black was outclassed, as witness 352 yards of advance by rushing and passing as against 90, and 17 Mountaineer first downs to four for the Presidents, who never had possession of the ball beyond their own 42-yard mark. They were never closer than 58 yards from the Mountaineer goal.

But even the details of this thrilling contest sound paltry when one views the event in retrospect. Enough to say that every member of the team acquitted himself just a little bit better than ever before; that the score would have been larger had it not been for a fumble on the West Virginia seven-yard line in the third quarter, and a penalty on the five-yard mark in the fourth; and that Farley, Glenn and Barnum each scored a touchdown.

Five regulars gave their valedictory performance. And a pleasant memory they left in the minds of everyone. Captain Mahan, Farley, Davis, Dilcher, and Oliker. Names to conjure with. Names that wherever spoken will at once recall memories of all that was memorable in West Virginia University football.

Summary of the Freshmen Season

The Freshman football team was fairly successful in 1925, winning five out of a difficult card of nine games. Joe Setron, former All-American guard and wrestling star, made his debut as freshman coach, he having already been assistant Varsity coach. Setron had some excellent material, and he took advantage of this fact to develop prospective Varsity timber, which is the main purpose of freshman teams.

The plebes more than doubled their opponent's score, running up a total of 143 points to their rivals' 60.

Potomac State furnished an easy opener, falling before the superior freshmen by a score of 32 to 0.

Glenville Normal was the next to fall before the frosh gridders, finishing on the short end of a 20 to 0 count.

The Pitt Freshies threw a monkey-wrench into the smooth running plebe machinery. They defeated Setron's charges 27-6.

But the plebes did not lose heart. They came back on their trip to St. Vincent's college, Pa., defeating the Keystone lads 21-7.

California Normal checked the yearling gridders in a hard-fought, hard-luck encounter, the Normalites ekeing out an 8-0 victory.

For the only time during the season, Setron's men sustained two defeats in a row when they dropped a difficult and heartbreaking game by the close score of 6-0. Tough.

By the following Saturday the Freshmen were sore. They took it out on West Liberty Normal by rolling up the largest score of the season, 38-0.

Going from one extreme to another, the plebes suffered their worst defeat in their next game. They lost this one to Fairmont Normal, 12-0.

Bluefield college was docile in the season's sign-off game, the freshies winning 26-0.

Only two regualrs from the 1924-25 team returned to play on the 1925-26 outfit, but Coach Francis Stadsvold had four excellent players from the freshman squad, and a powerful team was the result.

Stadsvolt, Coach

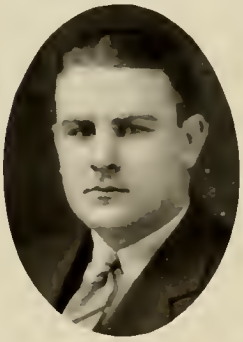
When the fearful schedule which the Varsity tossers were called upon to cope with is considered, their record of ten games won and eleven lost is not bad at all. Nearly all the old time-honored rivals were met, and in addition several teams not yet on the beaten path of the Mountaineer schedule makers. Most of the Tri-state schools had unusually strong teams, and the Mountaineers were fortunate to fare as well as they did.

Stadsvold's men scored 567 points to their opponents' 641. They averaged 27 points a game, while their rivals averaged 30.5 points against them.

In the first game Salem furnished a fairly close call with a 42-33 score, although the game was hardly ever in doubt after the first few minutes.

Carnegie Tech administered the first defeat of the season, in the second game played in the Ark. The score was 26-24. Oliker, substitute forward, injected during the last four minutes, scored two baskets, and then rung another which would have tied the score, but the referee ruled he took too many steps. The ball had left his hands just as the whistle blew. After this heartbreaker, the Mountaineers took on Allegheny, and dusted off the Meadville Marvels by a score of 29-21.

This heartened them up, and they were able to whip no less than Grove City at Morgantown to the tune of 30-27. George Washington University came down from Washington, D. C., and displayed a team which was somewhat off color. They encountered the West Virginians on the fag-end of a strenuous southern trip, and dropped an uninteresting contest, 50-30. They proved in the return game later in the season that they were not up to form in the first game.



Haig, Manager

Captain Rohrbaugh, the coach, and all the players decided to try their luck in the wilds of Western Pennsylvania. Grove City was inhospitable sending the West Virginians back to the Mountains on the undesirable end of a 28-11 score. This game came after a gruelling contest with Pittsburgh the night before in which the Panthers were victorious, 38-23.

Rohrbaugh, Captain

They came back home and, in the welcome old Ark, with the plaudits of loyal supporters ringing in their ears, they furnished one of the biggest dope upsets of the season by defeating Duquesne, 33-22. How they did it they themselves did not even know, but win they did and proved they still had a kick left. That the game was not won on form was proved the following night when they paid the Dukes a return visit in the Pennsylvanians' stronghold, and went down trying, 42-13.

Allegheny college was primed for the University boys and paid them back for the early season defeat administered to them by the Mountaineers. Meadville's men won, 30-27. It was a hard game.

Washington and Jefferson could not stand off the infuriated playing of the West Virginians, and the Presidents wer fortunate to hold the score to 29-26 on their home floor.

A return game with Pitt was next on the schedule. The Mountaineers were due to win this one, as they had lost earlier in the season. They won, 37-30. Everyone was satisfied.

Returning home, the cagers stopped off at Buckhannon, and dropped a stiff engagement to Wesleyan, by the tight score of 35-33.

Then came the big annual trip. This season the trip consumed six games, of which the mountaineers won two and lost four. Washington and Lee was met in Charleston and defeated, 40-34. But George Washington university demonstrated that the first of the two game series between the two teams was a fluke by polishing the Mountaineers off in the national capitol, 39-16. This was a bad defeat and one which came entirely unexpected. And more was coming to match this one, the Navy being the next to use the West Virginians to fatten their average. The score was 36-20.

The University of Maryland decided to get their share of the good thing and took the Morgantown lads into camp by the count of 25-15. Catholic university arrived at a similar decision, and inflicted a higher score, 51-26. Then the Mountaineers rebelled.

Ashworth, Capt.-elect

Wesleyan too received their bumping off in the Ark in the next game by the score of 20-18. Washington and Jefferson came back, however, and trounced the Mountaineers in the Ark by 30-24.

In the final game of the season, Carnegie Tech fell before the West Virginia tossers, 25-20, in a return game at Pittsburgh, this victory was a welcome surprise.

Looking back over the season, no notable proficiency was shown by the Stadsvoldians in either road or home games. They won about the same number at home as they did on the road. The team was fast and clever, and the cramped and uncomfortable Ark did a great deal to slow them up, but this also operated to the disadvantage of their opponents, many of whom were also of the fast, clever, type. Early in the season the personnel shaped up with Ashworth and Lepera at forwards, "Sleepy" Glenn at center, and Rohrbaugh and Morrison at guards. This lineup was used for several games, and then several glaring deficiencies cropped out, necessitating changes. Glenn was shifted over to forward, and Ashworth and Morrison alternated at center, while Black, who came through in fine shape, was used at guard. Lepera, after starting off good, hit a slump, and did not regain his early season form, although he finished high up among the scorers.

Morrison

Oliker

Oliker and Julian Murrin were used as capable reserve material, and they were often run in whenever the other team evinced a desire to "rough it up."

Summers, Rinehart, Ryan, Clarence Lewis, Clarence Murrin, and Baker, also played in several of the games and proved themselves capable players.

Each year Stadsvold has been absenting himself from his law practice in Minnesota to come to Morgantown and take over the Varsity coaching burden, and he has won a secure place in the hearts of West Virginia basketball lovers. This year, when he returned to Fosston, Minnesota, no definite announcement was made, but the chances are that he will be back. Next year prospects are bright for a successful team. With such players as Connelly of Uniontown, Taylor and Meisel of Huntington, Carey of Follansbee, Arbogast of Morgantown, and Middleton of Charleston coming up from the freshman eleven, next year has the "makins," at least. With any breaks a winning team should be the result.

But cause for the greatest rejoicing of all is found in the holdover Varsity nucleus. Captain-elect Ashworth, Lepera, Glenn, Morrison, Black, Julian Murrin, Casey Ryan, Rinehart, Clarence Lewis, and Baker are enough to gladden the heart of any coach. And they will all be available next year.

When anything is said of chances of getting a new gymnasium Mountaineer followers look at each other and heave sighs, and say derisively, "So's your dad" or the like. They have been promised for so long without fulfillment that they will not believe it until they actually see it. But without a new gym it is difficult to predict a winning basketball team. The Ark is totally inadequate. Everyone knows that. And everyone knows that we need a gym. And everyone knows that as long as we don't get it, the basketballers are to be commended no matter how many games they lose. They should be given medals for every game they win, students believe.

Lepera

Freshman Basket Ball Record

After a slight delay, in which everyone wondered who was to be chosen, Russell Delmar Meredith, former Mountaineer athlete, was chosen to take the place left vacant by Rodgers. As Coach Rodgers is Varsity football and baseball coach, it was believed the strain of the two sports was enough for one man, and Meredith, captain fo the 1922 undefeated Mountaineer football team, and expert basketball player, was given the coaching assignment.

The former Mountaineer star proved a capable successor to Rodgers, and he was given an array of some of the classiest material ever seen in a freshman team. The result was a season's record of eight won, six lost, and 400 points scored to 364 for opponents.

The breaks did not always go with the plebes. A severe setback was the dropping out of college of Les Cohen, star on the champion Uniontown, Pa., high team the year before. On this team also was Cece Connelly, who came to West Virginia with Cohen, the two forming a fearsome team until the latter withdrew. Other star freshman players were Meisel, Taylor, Carey, Arbogast, Middleton, Abruzzino, Hageberg, and several others. They will all form good timber for the Varsity next year.

The freshies scored an average of 28.5 a game to 26 for their rivals. Their highest score was against Uniontown high, 44-27, and their worst defeat was suffered at the hands of California Normal, 31-14.

1925 Track Summary

West Virginia turned out another successful track and field team in 1925, under the capable direction of Coach Art N. Smith. The team swamped Marietta in a one-sided dual meet, 107-28, defeated Pitt in a dual meet, 78.5 to 56.5, finished last in the Navy-Pitt-West virginia triangular meet, Navy 84, Pitt 26, and West Virginia 25, and was barely nosed out by Pitt by one point in the Pitt Intercollegiates. The score was 89-88.

D'Ainto, Butts, Calloway, Barnum, and Davis were again the bright stars in field and track events. Dan D'Ainto set a new record of 22 3-5 seconds in the 220-yard dash; Calloway reduced his mile mark to 4:27 2-5; while Butts set a mark of 51 1-5 seconds for the 440-yard dash.

Coach Smith had a fairly good nucleus around which to build a winning team, and the lanky mentor made the best of his resources. Given a few more years and an awakened interest in track and West Virginia will undoubtedly rank with the best of the big eastern schools in this sport.

Runners and weight men have become accustomed to the Stadium track and constant improvements were made on it during the 1925 season, and are still being made. No longer are the trackmen bothered by having to share the old athletic field with the baseballers, and the work of both squads is evidencing a noticeable betterment.

THE FRESHMAN TEAM

The University's second freshman track team engaged in three meets and won all of them. Their opponents were Potomac State, Pitt freshmen, and Washington and Jefferson freshmen. A bright array of stars performed for the plebes this year, and they should graduate a goodly number to next year's Varsity.

An innovation was introduced by Coach Art Smith who has charge of both the Varsity and Plebe outfits. A track meet between the Varsity and freshmen was held. The Varsity, of course, was triumphant, but the freshmen pressed them hard all the way, and showed that they will crowd some of the seasoned Varsity performers when they get the opportunity.

Each year the high school meet uncovers a crop of potential stars and last year was no exception. Track is rapidly coming to the front in West Virginia, and within a few years will doubtless rank at the top of the sport list.

THE FRESHMAN TRACK TEAM

The second freshman track team to represent the University turned in a nice record for the season, winning all three of its meets. W. and J., Pitt, and Potomac State were met and defeated by the plebe track stars, many of whom are making good on the Varsity this year.

A feature of the season was a meet with the Varsity in which a question that had long bothered the fans was settled: who would win in a hundred-yard race between D'Aiuto and Blauberg. D'Aiuto won by a safe margin and proved himself still the king of Mountaineer dash men, but the New Jersey youth showed much promise of developing into a sterling performer.

In some of the events the plebe tracksters were far superior to anyone the Varsity could produce. In the low hurdles "Sleepy" Glenn won with ease. McMahon bested the high jumpers, and Stanley excelled in the pole vault.

Buvinger and Simmons showed unquestioned ability in the middle distances and longer dashes, and Zevely gave creditable performances in the dashes, as did Hamilton. Many other plebe stars shone during the season, and will probably do better next year with added experience.

Coach Art N. Smith took both squads under his wing, and in this way was able to promote his system of training from the start. With the edded interest in track being manifested every year, the steady increase of facilities for meets and practice, track sems to be on the upward trend.

VARSITY BASEBALL SQUAD

1925 Baseball Summary and Records

Even the most optimistic expected the "rookie" Mountaineer baseball squad to have a lean year, and when the team won 13 out of its 23 games, everyone was agreeably surprised. Getting off to a rather poor stort, the Varsity nine found itself in midseason, and won 11 out of its last 15 games, after having dropped six out of its first eight.

On the eastern trip Rodgers' men broke even, winning three and losing three. But these three victories were especially welcome, for they came after everyone had predicted defeat for the West Virginians in all the road encounters. Navy, Drexel institute, and Maryland were trounced on this journey, while the Mountaineers took lacings at the hands of Catholic, Georgetown, and Yale.

One of the brightest spots on the schedule was the two defeats handed to Penn State, than which there are few teams the Mountaineers would rather gain —decisions over. The Old Gold and Blue also won two out of three from Wesleyan, which was welcome.

This year the schedule has been revised somewhat, due to the students' decision that athletes will not play teams representing schools that are members of the West Virginia State Athletics conference. This made necessary cancellations with Wesleyan and Bethand, with whom two games each had been carded. But athletic officials secured Muskingum to fill in one of the gaps, and they are working to find some other suitable competition.

The freshman nine, under the tutelage of Coach Steve Harrick, sent up some exceptionally promising material, including "Ducky" Phillips, a finished shortstop, and things look bright for a winning season.

Wrestling

Chancellor, Manager

1926 Wrestling Summary

"The shortest and most successful wrestling season the University hase ever had." This characetrizes the 1926 wrestling season.

Only four matches were fought, and of these the West Virginia grapples won three. The only match lost was to the strong Iowa State squad, national collegiate champions, 17 to 6.

Five men on the Mountaineer squad wrestled in every meet. They were Captain Wylie, Al Millender, Joe Millender, George Cole, and Isaac Pitsenberger. Captain Wylie had a very successful season, winning all of his matches, three by time advantages and one by a fall.

Three men on the squad were undefeated. They were Captain Wylie, Neill, who won three time decisions in the 115-pound class, and Cooper, who took his place against Penn, gained a fall.

Captain-elect Joe Millender, wrestling in his first collegiate season, broke even, losing on decisions in the Illinois and Iowa State matches, winning a decision at Annapolis, and scoring a fall against Penn. His brother, the veteran Al Millender, ended one of the most brilliant wrestling records ever made by a Mountaineer when he broke even on the year's work, gaining falls against Illinois and Penn, losing on a fall to Boyvey of Iowa State, and losing a decision to the Navy. His training down to make the 125-pound class weakened him, and rendered him less effective than he was in former years.

Ex-captain Tony Suder lost a decision at Iowa State, won a decision at Annapolis, and drew in the Penn Match. George Cole, husky novice who worked in the 175-pound class in all the matches, scored a fall against Illinois, lost on decisions to Iowa and Penn, and on a fall to Navy. Krickovic worked in the 158-pound class against Illinois and lost on a decision. Pitsenberger, recruit heavyweight, won decisions against Illinois and Penn, and lost on a fall to Navy and on a decision to Navy.

VARSITY WRESTLING SQUAD

To start the season the Mountaineers treated the Illini to a neat 19-6 trimming. In this match the Old Gold and Blue scored only two falls, gaining their other points with three time advantages.

The second bout was with the powerful Iowa State team, and the Iowans were good enough to trounce the Harrickmen soundly, 17-6. Neill and Wylie gained time advantages to give West Virginia six points.

The third bout was a joyous surprise to all Mountaineer fans. Little hope was held of beating the Navy, but this is what happened, by the close score of 14-13. Three decisions and a fall was enough to nose out the Middies, who gained two falls and a decision in the seven matches.

The last match of the season was in many respects the best. It was grappled with Penn, a strong eastern university, and the Mountaineers were at their best form before the home folks. The score was 23 to 5. West Virginia got three falls, two time advantages, and one draw, while the Quakers were able to gather only time advantage.

Captain-elect Millender, Cooper, Pitsenberger, Cole, and Krickovic, all experienced men, will furnish a strong nucleus for next year's team. Some promising material will be got from the upcoming freshman class.

TENNIS NOTES

With the heating system interfering with establishig of tennis courts, a popular and worthwhile sport was perforce discontinued. What a pity it is that such an enjoyable pastime is not provided for! Very few tennis courts are available in Morgantown, and they are certainly not available to the majority of students. It is only for a few months in the year that tennis can be played, but this should not be a drawback. Perhaps if the studens were to make their opinions felt there would be some attempts to secure spors that could be indulged in by a great number of them. This would be the best and most beneficial kind of exercise obtainable, and one of the cheapest.

GOLF PROSPECTS

Not much had been done since last Spring about establishing golf as an undergraduate sport, but the cry for it continues, and it is a cry that will not be stilled until some action is taken. Those who want golf added to the sport list are active, and their efforts will probably be rewarded with success. As far as can be learned, nothing definite has yet been done.

Mortar Board

WOMEN'S SENIOR HONORARY ORGANIZATION

Founded at University of Syracuse, 1918

LAUREL CHAPTER

Established at West Virginia University, 1925

The purpose of Laurel Chapter of Mortar Board is to encourage and recognize leadership in student activities among women of the University. In the Spring of each year such Junior women as have become eligible by activity in student affairs are chosen to membership. The organization strives to promote movements for the best interests of the state and for student life at West Virginia University.

University Calendar

Sept. 21—Everybody tries to register at once. All are in bad humor because of registration system and triple-cut policy. The University looks like a department store on a bargain day.

Sept. 22—Lazy students search in vain for cinch courses—123 of them enroll for Latin. Professors assume the usual registration grouch.

Sept. 23—Registration reaches 2,113.

Sept. 24—Freshman caps and arm bands are seriously essential. Grid men smother Allegheny in first football game of season.

Sept. 28—Unanimous vote abolishes class fighting.

Sept. 29—University high school established.

Oct. 2—Styles for men are discussed. Skeptical glances given Oxford bags.

Oct. 3—T. T. Callaghan with 97.647 average, hits highest grade mark in history of University.

Oct. 6—Matrix elects Mary Frances Brown president.

Oct. 7—Scribblers decide to publish campus magazine.

Oct. 8—Dr. Waitman Barbe taken to Baltimore hospital.

Oct. 9—New student ruling: The co-ed to be popular must dance the "Charleston."

Oct. 10—Football fans go with light hearts to Pittsburgh for the game, not knowing that they will come back with light heads.

Oct. 14—Men say "nix" to Oxford bags.
Oct. 15—Fond parents back home hear about their sons and "darters" through the new bureau of information.

Oct. 16—Sydney Ballam announces personnel of "Monticola" staff.

Oct. 17—Rhodes scholarships are offered to the University.

Oct. 22—Social calendar is announced by Darby. Morgantown merchants declare University people give $2,000,000 to their trade yearly.

Oct. 23—Girls are granted petition for quiet hours.

Oct. 24—Bill Thompson introduces new "Fight" song.

SERVICE---ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

Wo: "Why does a giraffe have such long legs?"
Man: "So he can reach the ground, my love."

"Listen Abe, you don't want to marry that girl, why everybody in town kisses her."
"Vell, the town ain't so beeg."

"Are all people made of dust?"
"It seems all are not. If you were, you would dry up once in a while."

Co-eds rush in where ladies fear to tread.

Realizing as we do, the vast number of requests asked the merchants of this and neighboring towns for support in student publications, student activities and student enterprises, we want to thank them for their very hearty cooperation in the publication of this volume. We want them to realize that they have taken no little part in any small success the 1927 MONTICOLA may merit, and it is our hope that their cooperation may be likened to the bread cast upon the proverbial waters, and return unto them an increased amount of patronage and good will.
